Position Number(s)	Community(s)	Division/Region(s)
91-12951	Fort Smith	Education & Training

PURPOSE OF THE POSITION

The Program Head, Environment and Natural Resource Technology Program's primary responsibility is the academic and administrative leadership and direction for the Environment and Natural Resource Technology Program (ENRTP) college-wide. The incumbent is also responsible for instructing courses related to the ENRT Program, evaluating the courses, supervising students in practical environments, and leading curriculum development/revision as required. The Program Head oversees program scheduling, delivery, marketing, reporting, spending, and budgeting for this program. The incumbent is responsible for leading the recruitment, evaluation, leadership, and management of students and faculty for this program college-wide. The incumbent manages and maintains a learning environment, which is conducive to providing the highest level of education possible within his/her program area.

SCOPE

Reporting to the Chair, School of Arts and Science, the Program Head, ENRTP makes a significant College-wide contribution to the ENRT Program and the School of Arts and Science; the incumbent has a direct and indirect impact on instructors and students enrolled in this program. The incumbent must be devoted to developing and delivering quality programs and courses to a broad client base, while maintaining the appropriate diversity for the range of student needs.

The Program Head, ENRTP is responsible for strategic direction and program planning, management, promotion, recruitment, delivery, evaluation, spending, budgeting, and program related reporting. The incumbent oversees, plans for and identifies instructor workloads to ensure program delivery needs are met and ensuring academic standards and integrity are met and are consistent college-wide. The Program Head works directly with the Chair, School of Arts and Science on the strategic planning and delivery of the ENRT Program college-wide. The incumbent is responsible for promoting a positive image of the College and ensuring quality delivery within the program area and related programs such as the Environmental Monitoring Program. The Program Head, ENRTP acts as the representative for this program college-wide and as a liaison with other campuses, institutions, and organizations on committees and teams and coordinates curriculum and program advisory committees. As part of the College team, the Program Head is required to complete, and ensure that all faculty complete, a variety of non-instructional duties that may be required to attain the goals of Aurora College. The Program Head represents Aurora College and the ENRT Program on both internal and external committees and teams related to program delivery, curriculum, accreditation, and partnerships.

The Program Head, ENRTP directly and indirectly consults with and supports the work of the instructional staff and fosters the development of teamwork college-wide. The incumbent also fosters an environment, which is supportive of student learning and scholarship, and strives for student satisfaction with the ENRT Program, courses, program delivery, and the quality of instruction. The Program Head encourages instructors to be innovative in approaches to teaching and learning. The Program Head attends to human resource matters jointly with the Chair, School of Arts and Science, affecting recruitment and replacement of instructors, as well as the orientation, training, and professional development of instructors, the development of job descriptions, and the performance planning and appraisal of instructional staff.

The Program Head has instructional responsibilities and will be required to instruct in a variety of programs such as the University Transfer General Arts Program, and must be devoted to developing and delivering quality programs and courses and promoting positive career development of adult students, within communities of the Northwest Territories. The incumbent conducts program related needs assessment and delivers and evaluates programming to meet those needs. As the lead instructional staff for the ENRT Program college-wide, the incumbent is responsible for ensuring all aspects of student counseling, programming, and discipline as necessary.

Instruction can be scheduled in a number of ways depending on the particular delivery approach of the course and/or program (e.g. semester, block, distance delivery, evening). The incumbent will be required to teach courses or modules in community locations or other campuses from time to time as required by the design format of the particular program being taught. The Program Head must instruct, and ensure that all faculty instruct in order to meet defined and detailed instructional objectives and program standards. Those standards are often imposed by relevant external accreditation organizations, associations, agencies government departments, and/or boards. The incumbent is required to complete ongoing professional development and maintain certifications and licenses as required by the Collective Agreement and program needs. The incumbent must also maintain currency of knowledge and expertise through regular professional development, work experience, and study.

The Program Head, ENRTP is required to coordinate, lead, and attend regular program meetings, and report regularly to the Chair, School of Arts and Science on student progress, faculty issues, and program delivery. The Program Head seeks input and supports from program faculty to lead program and course curriculum development and revision. The Program Head works collaboratively with the Chair, School of Arts and Science on relationships with institutional partners and accreditation particularly related to program delivery college-wide.

The Program Head, ENRTP is directly responsible for a program budget of between $200K and $1 million annually, which includes O&M, staff, and programs. The Program Head works collaboratively with the Chair, School of Arts and Science on budget development, monitoring, and reporting.
