IDENTIFICATION

Department	Position Title
Tłıchǫ Community Services Agency	Emergency Medical Responder
Position Number(s)	Community	Division/Region(s)
27-94008	Behchokǝ, NT	Health & Social Program/ Tlıcho

PURPOSE OF THE POSITION

The Emergency Medical Responder is responsible for providing initial response to emergent situations within Behchoko corporate limits of the Tlıcho region. This coverage applies to NWT highway 3. The EMR is responsible for providing on scene emergency medical treatment and ground transportation to the appropriate facility in Behchoko or Yellowknife.

SCOPE

The scope of the Tlıcho Community Services Agency is to manage the delivery of a range of integrated public GNWT and First Nations health, wellness and education programs and services for the Tlıcho communities of Behchoko, Gameti, Wekweeti and Whati. Established in 2005 as part of the Tlıcho Agreement, the Agency is designed to be an interim GNWT organization through which the Tlıcho Government will eventually exercise their treaty rights for self-government. The Agency serves approximately 3,000 people, employs 230 staff and has an annual budget approximately of 30 million dollars. Programs and services include K-12 education, health and wellness, child and family services, mental health and addictions, continuing care and independent living.

The Tlıcho Community Services Agency vision “Strong Like Two People” is a metaphor for the desire by community leadership to build an organization, and create programs and services, that recognize the strength and importance of two cultures. Local Tlıcho and non-Tlıcho knowledge have complementary strengths, which together can achieve solutions to contemporary problems which neither could alone.

Located in Behchoko, and reporting to the Coordinator, Health Operations/EMR Team Lead, the incumbent provides initial emergency medical response services for the communities within Behchoko corporate limits of the Tlicho region. Services are extended to the coverage of highway #3 from Fort Providence to Boundary Creek year around; a total of approximately 230 km. During the winter road season, service coverage also extends from highway #3 access to the Whati winter road to Marian Lake village, a total of approximately 33 km. The incumbents decisions and recommendations impacts patients directly, but also impacts health professionals, on a daily basis. The services are provided within the guidelines and procedures of the Tlicho Community Services Agency, the Government of the NWT (GNWT) and guidelines surrounding the Certification of an Emergency Medical Responder.

The incumbent is a support team member to all health centre staff and also provides public safety and health promotion seminars to residents of the Tlicho region as requested. The incumbent is required to work on a rotational schedule and to be on call giving 24 hour coverage.

WORKING CONDITIONS

Physical Demands

Lifting of patients up and down stairs and in out of the ambulance while standing and bending in awkward positions will be required as a normal part of the incumbents duties. Patients vary in weight but average between 180 and 250 pounds.

Environmental Conditions

Work may be performed in extreme temperatures and elements (rain, wind, snow) especially where accidents occur far from major access routes. Due to the nature of dealing with sick patients directly, there is some exposure to illness and severe trauma patients can further expose the incumbent to communicable diseases, contaminated blood and bodily fluids increasing the intensity of the exposure significantly.

Sensory Demands

The incumbent will be required to use the combined senses of touch, sight, smell and hearing during triage, assessment and continuous observation of patients while in the ambulance. Triage is a critical function requiring the incumbent to make sound assessments not only on what they are being told by the patient but also based on what they see hear or sense from the patient.

Mental Demands

Work is mentally stressful because of its complexity and the need to communicate effectively and quickly with the public and health professionals who may be anxious in emergency situations. Incumbents receive verbal/physical abuse, therefore patience, tact, and sound judgement are required as well as use of non-violent crisis intervention techniques. More than 35% of the emergency situations the incumbent deals with are alcohol related and the incumbent regularly enters peoples homes without knowing exactly what they will encounter. Incumbents also deal with cultural differences and language barriers which can be frustrating. An added pressure is the quick decision making required in an emergency situation. Incumbent may also be exposed to emotionally disturbing situations such as disturbing domestic situations, death, and severely injured patients.

KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS AND ABILITIES

- Knowledge of medical terminology, basic biological, physical and behavioural science in order to interpret and prioritize findings when performing patient care and assessments.
- Knowledge of non-violent crisis intervention techniques to deal with irate and violent clients.
- Proven problem solving skills to determine the appropriate intervention.
- Proven communication and interpersonal skills to deal with a variety of patients and deliver information sessions to the community in a manner that is understood by all.
- Proven organization, time management skills.
- Ability to operate a desktop computer and software to process patient information and records.
- The incumbent must be aware of the importance of confidentiality and be able to keep personal and medical information private and confidential at all times.
- Self-Control (Restrains Strong Emotions) – An ability to control strong emotions such as anger, frustration, fear and/or stress.
- Flexibility (Adapts Normal Procedures) – An ability to alter normal procedures or ways of working to fit a specific situation in order to get the job done.

- Analytical Thinking (Breaks Down Problems) – An ability to break problems into simple lists of tasks or activities.
- Listening, Understanding and Responding (Listens Responsively) – An ability to demonstrate objective and active listening and behave in a helpful and responsive manner (this includes being able to see out the facts and pertinent information before drawing conclusions).
- Client Service Orientation (Follows Up) – An ability to follow through on client/patient inquiries and request. This includes keeping the client/patient up to date on status.
- Teamwork & Cooperation (Cooperates) – An ability to participate in groups willingly and support team decisions (i.e. is a “good team player”).

Typically, the above qualifications would be attained by:

- A high school diploma
- Completion of Emergency Responders Course from a recognized Provincial/Territorial Regulatory Body is required
- The incumbent must have a valid class four driver’s license and be able to complete a satisfactory criminal records check.
- Health Care Provider CPR must be obtained within the first 6 months of hire
- Ability to speak and understand Tlicho would be an asset.
