Position Number	Community	Division/Region
48-16831	Inuvik	Continuing Care/Beaufort Delta

PURPOSE OF THE POSITION

The Nurse in Charge, Regional Home Care Services (NIC) is responsible for the provision of community home care services in accordance with established NWT Continuing Care Standards, the standards of nursing practice and the philosophy and objectives of the Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority (NTHSSA) to ensure the provision of safe standardized care to the residents of the Beaufort Delta Region.

SCOPE

The Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority (NTHSSA) is the single provider of all health and social services in the Northwest Territories (NWT), with the exception of Hay River and Tłı̄ch̄q regions, covering 1.2 million square kilometers and serving approximately 43,000 people, including First Nations, Inuit, Metis, and non-aboriginals. Health and social services includes the full range of primary, secondary and tertiary health services and social services including family services, protection services, care placements, mental health, addictions, and developmental activities, delivered by more than 1,400 health and social services staff.

Located in Inuvik, the NIC-RHCS reports directly to the Regional Manager, Continuing Care Services and is responsible for the coordination and delivery of community home care services to the client population in 5 communities within the Beaufort Delta region. The NIC-RHCS is responsible for planning, implementing, supervising, and evaluating the community home care services as part of an integrated care team. In addition to managing the community home care services, the NIC-RHCS will provide services and direct client care. The incumbent will promote compliances with best Home Care Practices through education, mentorship, demonstrated clinical expertise and through networking with GNWT Home and Continuing Care Consultants and the local health and social services teams.

The incumbent ensures that individual client needs are appropriately assessed through the Home Care Application process and that adequate staff, equipment and supplies are available to meet the needs of the clients. The NIC-RHCS ensures that all client care is in compliance with standards, guidelines and scopes of nursing practice; the policies and procedures of the Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority; the NWT Continuing Care Standards and the Accreditation Canada Standards and Required Organizational Practices.

The incumbent must also be familiar with other legislative, standards, protocols and guidelines requirement that will need consideration for their practice but not limited to; mental health act, child and family services act, coroners act and medical assistance in dying protocols.

The NIC-RHCS is responsible for assessing staffs' individual practice competencies and determining individual learning needed through completion of annual professional development plans and appraisals. The following 14 positions directly report to the NIC Regional Home Care Services; 2 Personal Support Workers Home and Community Care (PSW HCC) and 1 relief PSW HCC Aklavik, 2 PSW HCC and 1 relief PSW HCC Ft McPherson, 1 PSW HCC and 1 relief PSW HCC Paulatuk, 1 PSW HCC and 1 relief PSW HCC Tuktoyaktuk, 1 PSW HCC and 1 relief PSW HCC Ulukhaktok, and a total of 3 Elders Day Program/PSW located in the communities of Aklavik, Tuktoyaktuk, and Ft. McPherson.

The NIC-RHCS will work collaboratively to support and provide clinical home care case management directions to Nurse in Charges and Community Health Nurses working in community health centres.

The NIC-RHCS is an RN, who models and promotes excellence through the hands on delivery of nursing care to clients, or by providing seasoned advice, and/or recommendations to staff. The incumbent helps guide staff from task orientation, to more empowered analytical thinking, and care giving approaches. These services have a direct impact on the quality of services delivered to clients and their families, and on the cost of the services provided. The NIC-RHCS is a member of the Primary Community Care Team.

WORKING CONDITIONS

Physical Demands

From time to time (1 - 2 times per day at 10 minutes per incident) the incumbent will be required to lift, carry or support patients during the provision of patient care. This may include incapacitated patients within the home, community and Health Centre. The incumbent must be diligent about practices and procedures used to ensure safety and security of themselves, their clients and family members. The incumbent must spend much of his/her time walking, standing or lifting and will often be required to work in awkward positions while providing care. The incumbent will be required to travel to the five different Beaufort Delta communities to ensure adequate care and assessments are provided.

Environmental Conditions

Health Centers house a variety of potential dangerous substances including cleaning chemicals and medicines. The incumbent will be exposed on a daily basis to communicable diseases (TB, Hepatitis C), blood, bodily fluids, and hazardous materials (sharps and toxic cleaning solutions) that could be potentially harmful. The incumbent will be exposed to client homes with cigarette smoking: etc. The incumbent must perform all duties and model all procedures with attention to hygiene, safety, and security of themselves, their clients and family members. The incumbent often has to deal with clients who are angry, frustrated or in emergent situations.

As a result of living in an isolated, northern community, the incumbent may be required to travel on small planes and on ice or winter roads when traveling to or from the communities.

Some communities have limited modern amenities.

Sensory Demands

The incumbent will be required to use the combined senses of touch, sight, smell and hearing during assessment and observation of patients. Sense of vision for non-verbal communication and assessing the physical environment, is required on a daily basis.

Mental Demands

Within the health profession there is significant lack of control over the work place, with frequent interruptions that can result in continually evaluating and shifting priorities that may lead to mental fatigue or stress. The incumbent must concentrate for long periods of time and be able to prioritize and communicate demands from department and clients.

The incumbent is faced with stress from dealing with clients and family members who may be difficult to work with and who may be in difficult situations. There is significant emotional stress in providing care for clients who may be in a terminal or painful situation or who cannot enjoy the quality of life of others due to their age and/or condition. The incumbent is also faced with stress associated with managing non-regulated staff from a distance. Stress is also caused by the need to balance administrative, supervisory and patient care services and functions.

The NIC-RHCS must be able to provide medical guidance and intervention to clients without the availability of a physician in the community. Lack of specific or critical medical skills normally provided by a Physician (i.e. surgery) requires the incumbent to make medical judgments beyond the scope of the incumbents training which may cause substantial levels of mental stress on the incumbent.
