

GNWT Contract Event Opportunities Website – New Features

The GNWT is upgrading its Contract Event Opportunities website on January 29th, 2018. Here are some of the new features.

New Look and Feel

There will be a new look and feel to the Contract Event Opportunities website. This is a sneak peak.

Sorting of Event Opportunities

One of the most commonly request features from our vendor community is the ability to sort the data on the search pages by clicking on any of the column headers. We are happy to report that feature will now be available on all of our search pages along with the ability to download the search data directly to a Microsoft Excel file.

Bidder Registration Approvals

When new bidders register on the Contract Event Opportunities website, their registration is now being approved by the GNWT. GNWT is checking to see if the bidder has registered previously or if they are already a supplier that does business with the GNWT. If they already do business with the GNWT, the bidder registration will be cancelled and they will be then given an account as a Supplier so that GNWT can better manage its supplier list and provide better service to the business community. This change also means that if your company has registered multiple times on the current Contracts Event Opportunities website, we will merging these accounts under one bidder/supplier account with multiple contacts. There can now only be one bidding account per legal entity. Bidder approvals will take a maximum of 2 business days to be completed. Timelines will vary depending on priorities of the day.

Additional Award Information

In instances where a bid has been deemed “non-responsive”, this information will now be published on Event Details page once the Event has been awarded.
